

Guide to the Grand Slam and Triple Crown of National High Adventure Awards

Scouts, Venturers and adult leaders who participate in a qualifying high-adventure program at three of the BSA's national high-adventure bases may receive the Triple Crown of National High Adventure award.

Those who participate in a qualifying high-adventure program at all four may receive the new Grand Slam of National High Adventure award. Recipients of the award receive one 3-inch Grand Slam patch. An optional large (6-inch) version is available for purchase.

Which programs count? To put it broadly, you can count the programs for which these high-adventure bases are known. That means Philmont treks, weeks at the Paul R. Christen base (Adventure Base at The Summit), Sea Base adventures and Northern Tier voyages. Activities that don't count include training conferences, the national jamboree and family programs.

Grand Slam of National High Adventure award

What is it? The new Grand Slam of National High Adventure award recognizes those who have participated in at least one qualifying high-adventure program at all four of the BSA's national high-adventure bases. Recipients of the award receive a 3-inch Grand Slam award patch reflecting the four national high-adventure bases. An optional large (6-inch) Grand Slam of National High Adventure award patch is available for purchase.

Which programs count? Same list included with the Triple Crown.

How do you apply? Online only. <http://www.nationalhighadventureawards.org/>

Applying costs $9, which covers the cost of the patch. You can buy 6-inch versions of the patches separately for $10 apiece. There is no limit on the variations and quantities that may be ordered of the large patch.

How do you keep track of participation? To help, use the printable fact sheet and worksheet, available on the "About the Awards" page here.
